

Welcome to the Canyon!

Written by Administrator

Thursday, 24 April 2008 20:41 - Last Updated Saturday, 26 April 2008 07:02

We have a new look! The new site will provide information and resources to build new websites and to enhance existing websites with design templates and programming modules.

At the moment, we don't have much content on the site. Please be patient. There's more to come!

If you would like to get involved, go to the bottom of the left panel and create an account. Registered users will have access to more information like class notes and exercises.